

Running a SOLE Session [Self-Organised Learning Environment]

Question

Pose a Big Question:

Big Questions should be open, interesting, and fire children's imagination and curiosity. You can even challenge students to think of their own!

Investigation

Students work in groups to investigate the big question online. They should be free to move around, change groups if they like, speak to each other and share their ideas. Allow them to resolve any issues themselves.

Students can explore the question in any direction they choose. There may be no single correct answer.

Stand back and watch learning happen!

Review

Groups present what they have learned at the end of the session.

Encourage debate, and allow them to make links to other areas based on the work of other groups. What are the similarities and differences between their answers?

Discuss the question itself and the investigation process. What would they do differently next time? What did they think they did very well?